

Appendices
for
MORMON GOLD
by
J. Kenneth Davies

The Appendices connected with this volume are an important part of the story of California's Mormon Argonauts. They have been removed from the narrative for ease of reading, not because of a lack of importance. They have been physically separated from the book to keep the size of the latter within reason. They should be of especial interest to scholars and descendants of those Mormon California pioneers who, no less than those in Utah, made great contributions to the building of the Western Mormon Commonwealth in the mid-19th Century.

The Appendices will be grouped using chapter numbers and footnote numbers for easy reference. For example, Appendix 3a (FN 3-4) is the first appendix (a) of Chapter 3 and is referred to by Footnote 4 of that chapter. Sources tie back to the text itself.

¹Not in all Battalion lists.

²Park and Canfield made deposits to the Gold Accounts in December of 1848 and January of 1849 but could have gone north in the summer of 1848 going on to Utah in the fall. However, if Canfield was one of those associated with Rockwell in coining gold, he may also have accompanied him to the valley.

³There is confusion over this person or persons, listed variously as Hyrum William Fellows and Hyrum and William Fellows. A William H. Fellows, age 19 is listed among the Pioneers of 1847 while a Hyrum W. Fellows was listed in the Battalion. Also, see later account in this chapter for a case for two men, Hyrum and William.

⁴While listed as William Lance on the Battalion rolls, this may have been William Lane, who would shuttle back and forth between Salt Lake and California over the next year or two. However, a William P. Lane, 16 years old, entered Utah in 1847.

⁵One Battalion list has John, another James.

⁶The Battalion list usually includes an Oliver G. Workman. However, Andrew Jackson Workman refers to his brother Cornelius. They were possibly the same person, the "G" actually being a "C" for Cornelius.

¹This was possibly Captain James Brown, a leader of a sick detachment of the Battalion. He had gone to California with Brannan in 1847 on Battalion business, and would therefore be a likely guide. However, it may also have been James S. Brown, one of the original co-discoverers of gold who reached Utah that fall. The latter was sent the following year on a proselyting mission to the Pacific Islands. There were also other Mormons by the name of James Brown.

²There were at least two John Browns associated with the Church at that time. One was a leader of the Mississippi Saints who came to Utah in 1847. The other was a member of the Mormon Battalion.

³Probably "Captain" Joseph Davis, who entered Utah in 1848 and ended up in California in 1850. Captain Daniel C. Davis of the Battalion, who frequented the California-Utah Trail, was the leader of the Mormon Volunteers stationed in California. However, he could have gone to Utah, returning in 1848.

⁴There was an Israel as well as a William Evans in the Battalion. At least Israel was at Mormon Island in 1848. William was a Mormon Volunteer and was a tithe-payer in California in 1850.

⁵Probably either John Martin Ewell or William F. Ewell, both of the Battalion and both of whom went to Utah from California in 1847. William was probably at Pilot Hill in California in 1850.

⁶Horne, originally from London, England, entered Utah with his wife and four children in 1847. He evidently sponsored a Gold Missionary a year later if he did not actually go himself.

⁷Farnum Kinyon was a Captain of 10 in 1847. He died of cholera going to Utah from California in 1850.

⁸Came to Utah from England in 1848.

⁹Probably either John R. Stoddard of the Battalion or Judson Stoddard, a member of Lyman's company to Utah in 1849. The latter was a friend and later business associate of Porter Rockwell in California in 1849-50.

¹⁰There were two Swarthouts in the Battalion--Hamilton and Nathan. There were also four Swarthouts who entered the Valley in 1847--George, Truman, Harley, and Charles.

¹The Marys River is a tributary of what is now known as the Humboldt which was referred to by both names.

²At the Sink of the Mary's or Humboldt river, two choices were available. Emigrants could travel due south on the Chiles road through forty miles of salt wasteland to the Carson River at or near what became known as Ragtown, a few miles west of present-day Fallon. The other option, the one described by Willis, was to continue along the California Trail southwest, passing the hot springs and hitting the big bend of the Truckee at or near present-day Wadsworth. The Mormon Trail then struck south, over the low hills, to the Carson River at or near Silver Spring where it was joined by the 40 mile desert road.

³The right hand fork followed the Truckee River over Donner's Pass.

¹ Campbell gives the name of Joseph Dixon; however, other evidence indicates it to have been John Dixon.

² The Rollins (Rawlins) referred to by Campbell was probably not J. Henry Rollins. While there was a J. Henry Rollins in Utah, after the arrival of the group in the gold fields James H. Rollins was a close companion of Charles C. Rich. A Henry Rollins was in the Brooklyn Company while a John Rollins is listed as in the Battalion. James H. Rawlins, who was born in New York in 1816 and was baptized in 1832, entered Utah in 1848 as well as did a Henry Rollins. It is believed that this person was James H. Rawlins, though his name was frequently spelled Rollins.

³Boyd Stewart was probably not in the group when it left the Valley in 1849. A Robert B. Stewart was in the Battalion. A Boyd Stewart entered the Valley in 1847. Boyd was in the Huntington Company that was to leave Salt Lake in the spring of 1850. He may have become attached to the Gold Missionaries after his arrival in El Dorado County in July of that year. Excluding him from Campbell's list makes exactly the twenty gold missionaries referred to by Cannon.

⁴A Stoddard had been called on a mission to California in the fall of 1848 but he was not further identified and he may not have gone. Judson Stoddard entered the Valley in the Brigham Young Company of 1848.

Appendices for Chapter 15

About the first of July, 1849, Apostle Amasa M. Lyman began a list of Church members in California who contributed to the emergency fund sent to Church headquarters with the Rhoads Company that summer. In 1850, he began systematically to list the names of Church members whom he met in California, maintaining separate lists for those in San Francisco, San Jose, and what he called "Transients." He also maintained a running list of financial contributors, most of whom are found on the lists of members. The listings generally do not include the children, if any, and often not the women. In addition, his journals include names not included in Lyman's and Apostle Charles C. Rich's lists. The following appendices, 15 a-c, use these lists and journals as well as other sources with names rearranged alphabetically for ease of reference. The names of apparent women and children (probably adults) have been indented. As Lyman and/or his scribe were not always consistent or accurate, and as some individuals did not know how to spell their names, alternative versions are provided in brackets. Also included in brackets is the priesthood of men where identified.

NOTES: 1. Groupings represent mining partnerships.

2. While Horne is listed here and later, there is no record yet located of him going to California. He possibly was a sponsor staying in Utah and tithing paid for him in California or he may have been both a sponsor and an actual miner, the record being unclear.

3. If previous accounts are accurate, John Bills was dead. William Bills would appear shortly in the record. It may be assumed that this account should either read "William Bills" or that this was tithing paid for John posthumously. Wm. Andrew Bills came to Utah with John Bills in the Brigham Young Company of 1848.

APPENDIX 17c (FN 17-35)

Later Identification of Members of Huntington Company of 1850 With Mormon History

Josiah Arnold became a member of the Green River Expedition in December of 1853 as did George Clawson and Andrew Pendleton. Arnold was still there in June of 1854. Pendleton was sent on a mission to Carson Valley in 1856. Clawson was an active Utah Mormon in 1855 and 1859, as was Pendleton

John Gheen, who had earlier been involved in a homicide, had his life subsequently taken.

William Huntington was living in Springville, Utah in 1853, where he died in 1887. He arrived in Utah from California in 1851 with a Brother Pickett, possibly William A. Pickett. He was an active Utah Mormon in 1855 and 1859.

Moses C. Leonard was killed on his way to Utah in 1851. He was possibly traveling to Utah in connection with Huntington who returned that year.

Moses Thurston was called on a mission to England in 1852, going with several others who had been gold miners: William Glover, Thomas W. Treat, Darwin Richardson and Ephraim Green. Thurston was released in 1854. He was an active Mormon in 1859.

Norman S. Williams either was still in California or there again in 1856.

Of the Society Islands missionaries, the subsequent association of the following is known:

Bushby returned to Utah in 1851. In 1853 he was operating a ferry for California emigrants at Haws Ford and was an active Mormon in 1859.

Louisa Barnes Pratt returned to Utah with her husband and remained faithful, though her missionary husband eventually drifted away from the Church.

Jonathan and Caroline Crosby were active Mormons in 1859.

Julian Moses was an active Mormon in 1855.

Simeon A. Dunn was an active Utah Mormon in 1855.

Only Esshom, Jensen, the Journal History, and Church records for 1855 and 1859 were used to trace these individuals.

Probable and Possible Mormon Residents at William's Ranch 1850 Census

It appears that at least three Mormon families were situated at Williams Ranch at the time of the 1850 Census. Living next door to Isaac Williams were:

E. B. Whitney	31 NY	Laborer
Mary	30 Mf
Sara	2 Mf

Next to the Whitneys were:

Charles Crisman (Chrisman)	45 Ky	Farmer
Mary	33 SC
Geo.	17 Il	Laborer
Hester Ann	14 Il
Cemantha	10 Il
Mary	8 Il
Charles	6 Il
Emily	5 on the road
Ellen	1 Ca

Living with the Crismans were:

John M. Lewis	22 Il	Laborer
Jane	18 Il
William Lewis	20 Il	Laborer
Leonard Ellege	22 Il	Laborer

Note: Most of these were listed by Amasa Lyman as among the San Francisco Saints in 1850. Lewis' wife, Jane, 18, might well have been the older child of the Crismans. A William Lewis, about the right age to be the father of John and William Lewis, entered Utah in 1849, though neither of the latter are listed by Carter as Utah immigrants. In addition to the above family units, a William Workman lived nearby. A William Workman came to Utah in 1848.

A large contingent of Whitneys entered Utah in 1848. A male E. B. Whitney is not listed among them, though an Emmaline B. Whitney is. Lyman lists E. B. Whitney and Harriet Whitney as Transients and E. B. Whitney as a financial contributor in 1850. E. B. Whitney was possibly the Elijah B. Whitmer identified by others.

APPENDIX 24a (FN 24-2)

U.S. Census, California, 1850--various counties. In all subsequent listings from the census, those individuals have been included whose names lead to the belief that they were or may have been Mormons. Some of them are relatively certain. Others are very tentative, with names that are close enough to persons associated with the Mormon migration that they are at least likely candidates. Spelling cannot always be relied on nor even the given year or place of birth (origin) to identify persons. The same person often spelled, caused, or allowed to have spelled the name differently. Some even gave differences in date of birth. There were frequently different people with the same name. Some Mormons may even have used pseudonyms or purposely obscured their place of origin to avoid identification.

In the census listings, the three digit numbers are keys to the census, indicating the page number for that particular county on which the name is found. Following the name is the age and recorded place of birth or origin. That is followed by the occupation. The last column is a key to tentatively identifying the person with the Mormons: MB--Mormon Battalion, Brook--Brooklyn, U (year) entered Utah, Cal (year) entered California, etc.

As the means of tentatively identifying the individuals as Mormons, the lists of Utah immigrants published by Kate Carter, a microfilm listing of Utah immigrants, the lists of Mormon Battalion Boys and Brooklyn Saints, the lists of tithe payers and California Saints maintained by Apostle Amasa M. Lyman, and miscellaneous diaries and accounts have been consulted. Following is a list of the abbreviations used for place of birth or origin:

KEY TO PLACE OF BIRTH

Al	Alabama	Me	Maine
Ar	Arkansas	Mi	Michigan
Ca	California	Mo	Missouri
Can	Canada	Ms	Mississippi
Ct	Connecticut	NC	North Carolina
Dl	Delaware	Ne	Nebraska
Ga	Georgia	NH	New Hampshire
GB	Great Britain (England)	NJ	New Jersey
	Scotland, Wales, Ireland	NY	New York
Ia	Iowa	Oh	Ohio
Il	Illinois	Pa	Pennsylvania
In	Indiana	RI	Rhode Island
It	Italy	Ru	Russia
Ind. Ter.	Indian Territory	SC	South Carolina
Ky	Kentucky	Tn	Tennessee
La	Louisiana	Tx	Texas
Ma	Massachusetts	Ut	Utah
Md	Maryland	Va	Virginia
		Vt	Vermont

Individuals from the census have been grouped into what were apparently family units and those at the same residence, with the father first, followed by the mother (indented), the children (indented) and others. Where they had the same last name as the father it has not been repeated.

A few have been included who are very speculative in that they have not yet even tentatively been tied to a Mormon group. They were, however, living at the time of the census in proximity to known Mormons and their names make them likely candidates as Mormons. These are designated with a question mark (?) in the additional identification column. To illustrate: under Brighton or Six Mile House is A. Cheney and his family. They were living near the Roots, known to be Mormons. Known Mormons by the name of Cheney were in California and Utah in 1847 and 1849. Next to them was the Lathrop family group. Living with the latter was E. A. Cheney. Lathrop himself might well have been related to but is apparently not the same as Asahel Lathrop of the Mormon Tavern.

Included in parentheses are possible or probable first names. For example, the census only lists J. Foxall at Brighton. From other sources it is known that a James Foxall came to California with other Mormons in 1850. Therefore, J. (James) Foxall is listed.

The census systematically excludes occupational information on women and those under 15 years of age, therefore, that column has been left blank for those individuals.
